Malaysia is a country of extraordinary beauty and contrasts.
Geographically Malaysia is two places - the peninsula of Malaysia and the north-western area of Borneo made up of the states of Sabah and Sarawak. Situated a short flight from Kota Kinabalu access to Sipadan is via Tawau. From Tawau you are transferred forty kilometers by boat to Sipadan Island.

Turtles, Tortoises, and Terrapins are reptiles of the Order Testudines (all living turtles belong to the crown group Chelonia), most of whose body is shielded by a special bony or cartilaginous shell developed from their ribs.

Like other reptiles, turtles are ectothermic (or "cold-blooded"). Like other amniotes (reptiles, dinosaurs, birds, and mammals), they breathe air and don't lay eggs underwater, though many species live in or around water.

The largest turtles are aquatic.

About 300 species are alive today; some are highly endangered.
